

A BLANK CANVAS

“ We needed someone with the ability to create a kitchen within an awkward space. Only a bespoke, handmade kitchen could make it work to its full potential. ”

The owners of this beautiful Georgian property have been renovating for over two years with one distinct aim: to transform their house from boring bricks and mortar into an entirely original home.

They wanted a kitchen that was sleek and stylish, but entirely open to put their own personal stamp on. All the units are hand-crafted from Quebec Yellow Timber and painted in Farrow & Ball 'White' to create a crisp, clean canvas for this modern couple. Warm English Oak worktops inject a sense of cheer and avoid the clinical feel that can accompany white installations. This minimal kitchen is finished with chrome knobs with square backplates and Scopwick Mouldings, for extra oomph.

Special features include a floor-to-ceiling wine rack, a concealed cutlery block and a Tepan Yaki hot plate deftly hidden under a chopping board to maximize space and functionality for this couple of keen cooks.

“ Everyone loves our light and airy new kitchen. It fits the space perfectly and we have plenty of storage and work surfaces. ”

“ They were so easy to work with, really lovely people... flexible enough to help us achieve what we wanted whilst offering some great suggestions. ”
