

CLASSIC CONTRAST

“ The kitchen has exceeded our expectations. The corbels and granite on the island are particularly unusual and individual. ”

The owners of this part-Georgian, part-Victorian home wanted a fitted kitchen that was in-keeping with the classic yet eclectic feel of the property. We used rich contrasts and clean lines to craft a hand-made kitchen befitting a home with as much heart as history.

American Black Walnut worktops infuse warmth and texture into this classic kitchen, with solid Quebec yellow timber cabinets used throughout. The Farrow & Ball Pitch Black paint punctuates the centre of the room, giving the island a stately, defiant air.

Polished nickel handles offer a hint of lustre and carefully sculpted corbels add a timeless quality. The Sub Zero fridge and Wolf ovens are deftly woven into the fabric of this eclectic yet classic kitchen. The Cosmic Black granite on the central island, the marbled texture and custom bi-fold walnut doors, all add up to a distinctly warm and welcoming space.

“ The kitchen works perfectly with our period property. Jo, Mike and Chris gave us lots of great advice and support. ”

“ Hill Farm were able to make the Victorian type cupboards work with the industrial ovens and fridge (not easy!) ”
